

East Gun Carriage Five Rolls Set of 1,586 in Bowling Tourney, Class B

GETS SET OF 1,586

East Gun Carriage Rolls Well in Bowling Tourney.

GOOD MARKS IN DOUBLES

Five Counts of More Than 600 Registered During Last Night's Play.

The East Gun Carriage team ran up the highest set obtained by the teams in the bowling tourney last night, and, incidentally, went into second place in the team standing in class B. The Freight five, with its 1,614, still leads, but the 1,586 made by the navy yard aggregation was the second best in that class.

Drake, rolling second for the Gun Carriage, was mainly responsible for his team's score. He knocked down a total of 361 pins, for which he obtained marks of 116, 128 and 122. Five sets of more than 600 were registered in the doubles. Shade and Young got the best mark—666. Oliver and Whalley were not far behind, though, as they knocked down 652 of the maple. Wright and Goodman got 650, Allen and Wells obtained 628, and Oehler and Kinsey 607.

The results of last night's rolling follow:

SOLDIERS' WIVES IN WAR.

How They Are Supported by France, Russia, Belgium, Japan and Serbia.

From Pearson's Weekly.
Compared with what other countries do for their soldiers' wives in war time, the British "Pommes" wives are treated very generously. For example, Russia pays no separation allowance at all, but in practically every instance her soldiers are unmarried. France allows the wife of a soldier at the front 1 franc 25 centimes a day, or, roughly, 75 a week. Each child under fifteen is granted 50 centimes a day, or, roughly, 25 a week.

In Belgium a lower rate obtains. The wife gets 75 centimes a day, and each child 25 centimes, approximately 40 a week and 1 6d. On the other hand

The General's Staff.

From the New York Mail.

The reason why Napoleon was a greater general than any who exist at the present day is now made apparent. A reviewer has discovered that he never had a staff. He was, in fact, his own staff. He did things himself. Nowadays a general is only about one-fifth of a general, the rest of him being his staff. Napoleon had nothing to do except look around and see what he wanted and give his orders, and let him free to win a great many victories. In the old days a general sometimes used to get tangled up in his sabretache. Nowadays he does not wear a sabretache, but he gets tangled up in his staff.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Some people are vain because of their imperfections.

Shall we gouge other people while carving out our fortunes?

A man who is tied to his wife's apron string certainly isn't fast.

A man's ideal figure usually has a dollar mark in front of it.

Beauty may be only skin deep, but it is nearly always effective.

About the only stone the average boy does not turn is the grindstone.

Very few husbands are as good or as bad as their wives imagine they are.

Many an ambitious man has been literally crowded to the front—in a street car.

A Revolution in Tailored Suits

We have turned the tailoring business inside out, upside down. We have put it on a new basis. Giving absolutely high-grade woollens, together with genuine hand tailoring, at prices lower than "ready-mades."

We're selling hundreds of suits, where others sell one. That's where we get our profits. By buying fabrics in enormous quantities with ready cash we obtain prices so low it's like handing us the goods. And we get the cream of the market.

Men From All Over the City
